THEO. B. STARR DIES OF APOPLEXY

Death was caused by apoplexy. Mr. Stair had been living at the home of his son. Louis Morris Starr, at No. 8 West Fifty-chird street, and had been active in his business until yesterday, there he was indivioused by a slight cold and attack of indigestion. He spent yesterday at Plainfield and ate sparingly. When he awoke early to-day he asked for a drink of milk. Before he could drink he collapsed and died.

Mr. Starr was of Colonial and Revolutionary stock. His ancestor, Dr. Comfort Starr, settled in Cambridge in 1625 and was one of the first overseers.

Aug. 6, 1837. His father conducted the Priory School there. On the death of his father he went to New York and as a boy entered the old firm of Reid & Taylor. In 1882 he started a small commission business at No. 18 John street Maylor. In log he started a smart com-mission business at No. 18 John street, taking Hermann Marcus as a partner in 1894. In 1877 he bought out his partner and moved to Madison Square, being one of the first to realize the advan-tages of an uptown jewelry establish-

And Howard White Starr. His charities were many, the Gordon Rouse for Hoya being the principal beneficiary. He belonged to the Union League and Lawyers (Lub and to the Constitutional Club of London. He was a member of the American Geographical Society and the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

the gas main under the Harlem Ship Canal, at Two Hundred and Twentyfifth street, to-day, when Diver Harry Paulson's foot struck something hard at the bottom. He groped around and drew out an urn, sealed tightly.. He eignalled excitedly, and was drawn up to the dock. There the urn was clean ed of anud and found to bear the in-

HERMAN SIEVERS

Policeman Kip took the urn to the Kingsbridge Station and on opening it, found it contained ashes, presumably of a cremated person. The case was reported to Coroner McDonald, who is at loss whether to regard it as a Coroner's case, or not.

The United States Crematory Company, which conducts the Fresh Pond Crematory, later reported that the urn bearing No. 8,400 was catalogued as containing the ashes of Herman Slevers, a German tailor and widower, who lived at No. 512 Fhird avenue, and who died in Bellevue Nov. 77, 1963.

The record shows that on March 2 the crematory received an order from Undertaker Philip Wagner, of No. 138 Becond avenue, ordering the company to deliver the urns containing the ashes of Herman Slevers and Anna Slevers to Ross M Hamilton, No. 115 West One Hundred and Thirty-sixth street, which is a private house, it was said no such person as Ross M. Hamilton wa ever known.

AFTER REUNION

After a separation of five years, during which they did not even hear from each other by letter, Henry Fleishman and his sweetheart. Annie Bauer met in this city. Ten minutes later they called on Alderman Botzler at his home, No. 362 East Third street and were married. More than six years ago Fleishman then twenty-two, met Amnie Bauer, who was seventeen, at a dance in Brestherg, Hungary. It was love on sight. For a time it looked as though love's course was to run smooth for once. They became engaged, the wedding day was set and all arrangements were about completed when Pleishman was vice. The heart-broken lovers aban doned the wedding, but Pielshman said the day he maiched to a military station: "If I ever get out of the army I'il many you, Annie."
That was the last she saw of him. A year later she arrived in New York and went to live at No. 118 St. Mark's place.

and went to live at No. 118 St. Mark's place.

While living here she refused several effers of marriage. She was waiting for the lover of her girlhood. She wrote to him once, but he never received the letter; still she trusted him.

Three weeks ago Fleishman's army service was up, and after getting his honorable discharge from the First Flomest Battalion he salled for New York on the steamship Bluecher, which arrived here Sunday evening. The next few days he spent in making inquiries through friends for Annie, and his search was researed wasterday afternoon. He called on the young woman and almost his first words were:

"Annie, five years ago I said that if I ever got out of the army I would marry you. The time has come; will you have here."

It was "yes" and away to Aiderman It was "yes" and away to Alderman
